DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

The amendment to the Specification has overcome the objection which has been withdrawn.

The amendments to claims 3-6 and 15 have overcome the claim objections which have been withdrawn.

The amendments to claims 9 and 10 have overcome the 35 USC 101 rejections and the rejection has been withdrawn.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1-10, 12 and 14-16 are allowed.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

The cited prior art neither teaches nor suggests that in a control system for controlling the movements of a plurality of mechanical units, the control system comprise (1) a program unit composed of plurality of mechanical unit programs, (2) a plurality of path planners and (3) a switch unit, all disposed in a computer.

The plurality of path planners is operatively connected to the program unit and to the mechanical units. Each path planner is configured to receive movement instructions from at least one of the mechanical unit programs. Based on the movement instructions, the path planner determines how the mechanical unit should move in order to be able to execute the movement instructions. At least one of the path planners is configured to receive movement instructions from at least two of the mechanical unit programs and, based on the movement instructions; determine how the mechanical units should move in order to synchronize the movements of the mechanical units.

Each mechanical unit program has program instructions including movement instructions for at least one of the mechanical units, a plurality of path planners, and a switch unit operatively connected to the program unit and the path planners. The switch unit is configured to switch a mechanical unit program from one path planner to another path planner, such that the movements of the mechanical units are synchronized when the mechanical unit programs are connected to a same path planner and the movements of the mechanical units are independent when the mechanical unit programs are connected to different path planners.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
